About Us

Venufab is built on a shared vision of quality, innovation, and bringing advanced textile solutions to India.

The company is driven forward by Hiren Kadel and Geetanjali Varma, who are leading its expansion in India with strong dedication and hands-on involvement. They are constantly working researching new technologies, improving processes, and ensuring that only the highest quality products reach customers.

With global exposure from the textile industry in China since 2018 and a background in design, dyeing, and e-commerce, Founder Siddharth Varma brings valuable international experience and technical understanding to the foundation of the brand.

Together, the team is focused on one goal: delivering reliable, innovative, and world-class quality products to Indian customers while building long-term trust and value.
